Dr. Glenn Scott:

Colin Donohue asked me to write a letter regarding his application for the position of Director of Student Media at Elon University.

Colin worked as a part-timer for the sports department at the Times-News during parts of his final two years as an Elon undergraduate student. He also spent parts of summer break with us as an intern.

He was a reliable worker. He picked up on many of the important aspects of our daily operation. Several times he came through for us in important situations.

He covered a variety of events and topics for the Times-News, ranging from professional football to amateur women's golf to an inaugural triathlon in the area. He also delved into some editing and page layout while here to receive a taste of that as well.

Colin maintained his ties to The Pendulum during this time and seemed to enjoy aspects of student journalism. He took pride in his leadership roles with the student newspaper.

He appeared to be a good representative of the School of Communications.
